LAND OF ISRAEL QUARTET

Game Rules

Play With...

3 to 6 players. Age: 5 and up.

What's in the Box?

36 Cards, forming 9 quartets.

Objective

To collect as many series as possible. Four cards of the same series form a quartet. For example: Anemone, Cyclamen, Iris and Sunflower are a quartet of flowers.

Ready, Steady, Go...

Shuffle the cards thoroughly, and deal the entire deck equally among the players. Each player looks at his cards and tries to put together a series of four cards. A series of four cards is placed face up on the table. The youngest player goes first. He looks at his cards, and tries to complete a series. He turns to one of the players and asks for a certain card, providing he has at least one card of the series. Example: "Dad, do you have a Sunflower?" If the player asked has that specific card, he must give it to the asking player. If not, he negates. ("Sorry I do not have that card") A player receiving the requested card, keeps playing and may ask another card (from any player). If the answer is "No", the asking player loses his turn, and the turn goes to the player he asked for the card. A player completing a series places it face up on the table.

Game Over

The game is over when all quartets are completed and placed on the table. The winner is the player who has completed the largest number of quartets.
